

It is absolutely inappropriate for a media company to use their unique position to attempt to influence an election at any level. Sinclair should be vigorously warned not to air "Stolen Honor," especially so shortly before an election.